I also wanted to extend a huge congratulations to Dr. Don Howell, the Florida Veterinarian of the Year and Drs. Jacqui Olso and Amanda Ditson, recent Power of 10 graduates. SPC SCHOOL OF VETERINARY TECHNOLOGY PINNING AND AWARDS CEREMONY

On behalf of the PCVMA, Dr. Julie Mosher presented two $600.00 scholarships to SPC students. The AS scholarship went to Penny Cooper-Jones (not pictured) and the BAS scholarship to William Smith. CONGRATULATIONS!

Tonight is a celebration of veterinary technicians — the individuals who show unwavering commitment, compassion, and skill every single day. Whether they're providing critical care, comforting worried pet owners, or let's be real- keeping the doctors in line, you are the ones who make a real difference in the lives of animals and people.

Veterinary technicians are the backbones of the hospital, a fact that has been made even more obvious as veterinary technicians are becoming harder to hire. It's clear that without you, the veterinary field would not function as seamlessly as it does. Your knowledge of medical procedures, diagnostics, anesthesia, and so much more makes you an essential part of the veterinary team. You bring a unique blend of expertise and compassion to your work, and that's something worth celebrating.

Tonight is about recognizing the countless hours you dedicate to your schooling and profession, the sacrifices you make, and the many lives — both human and animal — that you touch with your care. You are a vital link between animals and their owners, ensuring that every animal receives the best possible treatment, no matter the situation.

So, on behalf of the Pinellas County Veterinary Medical Association, I want to extend a sincere Congratulations to each and every one of you. Your contributions are invaluable, and your impact reaches far beyond what words can express. We are so incredibly proud of you, and we thank you for everything you do. Once again, congratulations, and may your passion and dedication continue to inspire and elevate the field of veterinary care for years to come.

Thank you and good luck on your new journey,

Julie Mosher, DVM

St Petersburg College students and faculty have just completed the spring semester and started the summer semester on May 19

We held our pinning ceremony on May 5th with over 40 BAS and AS graduates. We are very appreciative of the support from PCVMS in awarding two scholarships. One to Penny Cooper Jones an AS student employed by Blue Pearl in Clearwater, and Will Smith a BAS student employed by Coastal Veterinary Hospital in Dunedin.

Our student will be traveling in July to Costa Rica for our 20205 study abroad trip for wildlife rehabilitation and working with a sloth rescue.

SPCA TAMPA BAY

Hurricane Preparedness: A Resource for You and Your Clients

As we enter the 2025 hurricane season, SPCA Tampa Bay has created this messaging to support you—our local veterinary professionals—with timely and practical information to help protect pets in our community. This content is designed for flexible use: share it with clients, adapt it for your clinic's website or social media, use it in your newsletter, or simply keep it as a reference for emergency-related discussions with pet owners.

Key Preparedness Reminders for Clients:

As a trusted resource, you're often the first person pet owners turn to for guidance. Here are the key talking points to share:

Pet Identification

- All pets should wear a collar with an ID tag that includes current contact information.
- Microchipping is strongly recommended, and owners should ensure contact details are up to date in the microchip registry.
- Temporary ID tags with evacuation-specific contact info are also useful during storms.

Pet Emergency Kit Essentials

Encourage clients to prepare a kit that includes:

- 7 days' worth of food and water
- Medications and copies of prescriptions
- Vaccination records
- A sturdy crate or carrier
- Familiar comfort items (toys, bedding)
- Litter and cleaning supplies
- A recent photo of their pet (for ID if separated)

Planning Ahead

- Help clients identify pet-friendly shelters or boarding options before a storm hits.
- Remind them to never leave pets behind during an evacuation.
- Share resources to help them “know their zone” and understand local evacuation requirements.

We've compiled additional tools and printable checklists you can share or display in your clinic here:

<https://spcatampabay.org/hurricane-prep-for-pets>

How to Use This Resource:

Whether you're looking to engage your clients, educate your team, or advocate for proactive planning, this messaging is ready for you to:

- Copy/paste into newsletters
- Print for front desk or waiting area handouts
- Adapt for social media content
- Reference during wellness exams or pre-season conversations

If there's anything we can provide to better support your outreach—custom versions, co-branded content, or topic suggestions—please let us know. Thank you for all you do to keep our community's pets safe and cared for.

PINELLAS COUNTY ANIMAL SERVICES

ANIMAL EXPOSURES

It's heating up out there and, unfortunately, so are instances of animals at large and negative interactions. Pinellas County Animal Services receives approximately 2,000 reports of animal-to-human bites annually. About 55% of these incidents involve owners being bitten by their own pets, termed "owner-victim bites." Another 40% involve individuals bitten by animals they do not own, such as a neighbor's pet or a stray. The remaining 5% are bites from native wildlife.

A bite is defined differently depending on the animal:

- Dogs: Any instance where the dog's teeth break the skin; scratches from claws are not considered bites.
- Cats and Wildlife: Any occurrence where teeth or claws break the skin.

In Florida, animals are categorized based on rabies risk:

- High-risk animals: Raccoons, bats, and feral cats.
- Low-risk animals: Squirrels, opossums, and vaccinated pets.

All bites, regardless of severity, must be reported to either Pinellas County Animal Services or the Pinellas County Health Department to ensure public health and safety. Reports can be made via telephone at (727) 582-2608 or fax at (727) 582-2635.

Upon receiving a bite report, both the victim and the pet's owner will be contacted. The pet will undergo a 10-day (240-hour) quarantine starting from the date of the bite. Quarantine locations may include the owner's residence, Pinellas County Animal Services, or an approved veterinarian's office. While home quarantine is preferred, the decision depends on factors such as the circumstances of the bite, its severity, the animal's bite history, and its current rabies vaccination status. Even animals with up-to-date rabies vaccinations are quarantined, as a current vaccination reduces risk but does not eliminate it. If the biting animal cannot be located and quarantined, the victim is advised to begin post-exposure rabies treatment, coordinated through the Pinellas County Health Department.

For bites involving high-risk wildlife, if the animal is captured, it is sent to the state laboratory for testing. If the animal cannot be tested, the victim should commence post-exposure rabies treatment within 14 days from the bite date. The state laboratory no longer tests low-risk wildlife, even if the victim offers to pay the associated fees.

Although Pinellas County has not reported a rabies case in domestic animals for several years, it remains crucial to report all bites, quarantine the involved animals, and ensure pets are current with rabies vaccinations and licenses.

TECHNICIAN RELIEF SERVICES

RELIEF TECHNICIAN SERVICES

I am an Independent Relief Technician (CVT) that is licensed, bonded, and insured. I have over 28 years of experience with small animal, avian, and exotics. My main goal and purpose is to help clinics fill the gaps in staffing until they can find a permanent team member, or just allow clinics the ability to give their existing, deserving staff time off. Or to use that vacation time /PTO that expires at end of year (use it or loose it) or for the daily call outs that happen 3 minutes before clinic opens. Please call, text, or e-mail me any questions you have , or to book any shift. I am also available for meet and greets ☺
