“Serving Pinellas County Veterinarians for 60 Years

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Dear Pinellas Colleagues, happy summer as we roll into June. It is a month filled with quite a number of holidays and observances that likely resonate with each of you in your own way. Whether you take time for Father's Day, or to recognize the impact of mental health for men. If you celebrate Pride month and our incredibly diverse coworkers, friends and family members by showing them your support and love. Of course Juneteenth marks an important historical changing point in our country's history. For our profession, Pet Appreciation Week and Animal Rights Week may resonate with your passion for practicing as a veterinarian. You may take the time to reflect on those in your circle affected by PTSD, Alzheimer's disease, Eating disorders or National Cancer Survivors Month and National Black Family Cancer Awareness Week to give thanks for those still with us, and remember those who aren't. If you have been touched by those personally, please remember you aren't alone, and there is support here among your colleagues and professional resources available if you need.

It seems as if every day, week, or month has something special about it to remind us to pause and find what matters to us. To find what we have in common with others, and to remember we are all part of an amazing community, family, profession, country and world. We are all part of something bigger than ourselves and have an impact in those lives around us with our actions and efforts. I hope you each find something this month that recognizes your value and those you love and support. If you haven't found the one that speaks to you, please feel free to celebrate June 1st with me with National Say Something Nice Day as I make the world a better place, with one small kindness after another. Stay safe, stay well, and thank you for being part of our family and profession.

SPC Veterinary Technology Program Celebrates a Year of Growth, Achievement, and Global Learning

As another academic year comes to a close, the St. Petersburg College Veterinary Technology Program is proud to reflect on a year marked by exceptional student achievement, program growth, and meaningful learning experiences that continue to prepare the next generation of veterinary professionals.

This year, the program celebrated a major milestone with more than 70 graduates completing their journey through both our campus-based and distance education pathways. These graduates represent a dedicated and talented group of future veterinary technicians who have demonstrated perseverance, compassion, and commitment to excellence in animal healthcare.

Student success continues to be a hallmark of the SPC Veterinary Technology Program. Our graduates achieved Veterinary Technician National Examination (VTNE) pass rates exceeding 85%, a strong reflection of the quality education and support provided by our faculty and staff. Particularly noteworthy is the outstanding performance of our distance education students, who achieved a 100% VTNE pass rate for the second consecutive year. This remarkable accomplishment highlights the effectiveness of SPC's distance learning model and the determination of students balancing education with professional and personal responsibilities.

The program also maintained student success rates above 80%, further demonstrating our commitment to student engagement, retention, and achievement. Through innovative teaching methods, hands-on laboratory experiences, and supportive mentoring, SPC continues to create an environment where students thrive.

Beyond the classroom and clinic, students had opportunities to broaden their educational experiences through two exceptional study abroad programs. This year, students traveled to Costa Rica, where they gained firsthand exposure to international veterinary medicine, conservation efforts, and animal care in diverse settings. Students also participated in a unique educational experience in Ireland, expanding their understanding of veterinary practices, agriculture, and global perspectives on animal health and welfare.

These international experiences not only strengthen clinical and professional skills but also foster cultural awareness and broaden perspectives—qualities increasingly important in today's veterinary profession.

As we celebrate the accomplishments of this year, we also recognize the faculty, staff, clinical partners, alumni, and supporters who make these successes possible. Their dedication helps shape students into skilled, compassionate professionals prepared to make meaningful contributions to veterinary medicine.

The SPC Veterinary Technology Program looks forward to building on this momentum and continuing to provide exceptional educational opportunities for students both locally and around the world.

Congratulations to our graduates and to the entire SPC Veterinary Technology community on another extraordinary year.

PINELLAS COUNTY ANIMAL SERVICES

One Minute Too Long

With summertime upon us, it's important to remind pet owners that leaving a pet in a parked car can quickly become dangerous, even if the windows are cracked or the car is parked in the shade. On a warm day, temperatures inside a vehicle can rise dramatically within minutes, creating an environment that can lead to heatstroke, dehydration, brain damage, or even death. Dogs are especially vulnerable because they cannot cool themselves as efficiently as humans, they rely mainly on panting, which becomes ineffective in extreme heat.

Signs of heat distress in dogs include excessive panting, drooling, vomiting, weakness, confusion, and collapse. Breeds with short snouts, such as bulldogs and pugs, are at even greater risk. Many pet owners underestimate how fast a car can heat up, but even with temperatures in the 70s it can become life-threatening inside a parked vehicle. The safest and smartest choice is to leave your dog at home whenever errands require leaving them unattended in the car.

Leaving a pet inside an unattended vehicle is not against the law, however an owner can be charged criminally if the pet becomes overheated and suffers. What should someone do if they witness a dog left unattended in a hot vehicle? Call 911 immediately, as law enforcement can respond within minutes. After 911, they can contact Pinellas County Animal Services at 727-582-2600.

Thank you for sharing this important message!
